DALE BRADLEY
Master Printmaker, Painter,
Sculptor

Dale is a scientific illustrator, graphic novelist, inventor, explorer, and artist on the never-ending adventure. His techniques, materials, palette, and subject matter take many forms. At once explosive and sublime, Dale's work emerges from the challenge to see what might happen if .. and one is never disappointed.

BRIAN KREBS
Painter

Brian paints observations and mathematical quandaries he transforms into geometric frameworks within which a story is told. Immediately apparent and delightfully satisfying is the choreography that unveils to the onlooker a rare and sensuous truth in each subject matter.

KATHY MOSS
Painter

Kathy has this well defined sole intent to her art: to paint beautiful things, to make beautiful paintings. Her methods generate singular platforms on which are elegant and amusing figures, flowers, trees, and curiosities catching her attention. The simplicity and sparseness of Kathy's work as it is married through the artist to invention and curiosity, is palpable.

CHRIS POLSON
Painter

Chris is a fisherman and an outdoorsman who paints underpinnings, magnificent glimpses into landscapes, flows, and sky that pull you layer by layer into the canvas. His powerful perspective and the unexpected energy in his brush are immediately alluring, having surrounded you at first glance.

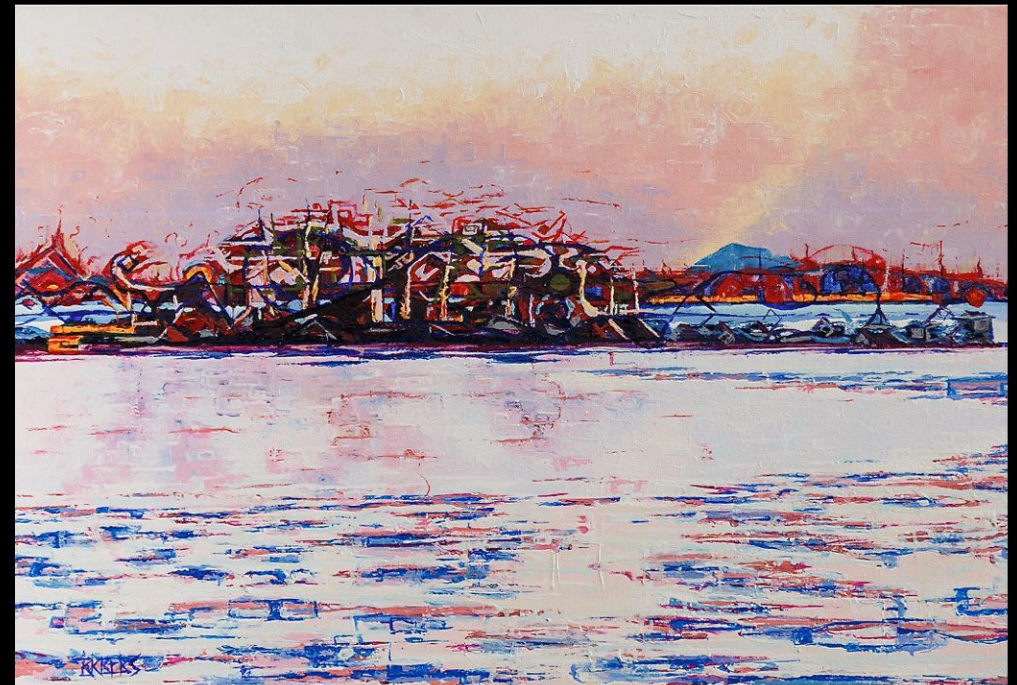

W.K. THORNDIKE
Painter

Kelly is a thriller, thinking, moving, doing: a carefully crafted dance of progressive ideas. His art is all things and no things, impulse painted as stillness, art as change leaping forward and lying still. There is always more to what is revealed on the canvas but one thing is for sure - it will be magnetic.
